Personal / Nonprofit – End User License Agreement

This Personal / Nonprofit License – End User License Agreement 'EULA' is a legally binding contract between 'You' – The Customer and Ten Dollar Fonts Ltd – 'Ten Dollar Fonts.' By purchasing a License and downloading Font software from Ten Dollar Fonts, You agree that You have fully read, understood and agreed to the terms and conditions of this EULA. If You do not agree to the terms and conditions of this EULA, You are not authorized to purchase a Personal / Nonprofit License or download and use any Font software from Ten Dollar Fonts. You are purchasing a License for usage only, not ownership of the Font software.

Our Licenses

Ten Dollar Fonts trust You respect us and our practice of typographic design. Ten Dollar Fonts believe You will respect our vision of empowering the whole industry with affordable typography and will order the correct License. Regardless, Ten Dollar Fonts manually inspects all orders received on a daily basis. If we believe You have purchased the incorrect License we reserve the right to contact You to confirm the correct use of the Font software.

Personal / Nonprofit License Definition

Our Personal / Nonprofit License is designed exclusively for students, non-profit organizations and charities. A Personal / Nonprofit License enables You to use our Fonts for your personal, private or non-profit-gaining work only. It may not be used for any form commercial or client work. This is anything considered to be connected to making gains or representing an Individual or Company, Brand or Organization.

If your intension is to use the Font software to create media to represent yourself, an event, place, product, brand, company, another person or is linked in any way to financial or material gains, then you are required to order a Commercial License.

Treat as Confidential

You agree to treat the Font software as confidential information. You are not permitted to copy, reproduce, transfer, sell, license, lend, file share, lease, sub-license or distribute any Font software downloaded from Ten Dollar Fonts. You agree not to edit, modify, reformat, translate, hack or otherwise discover the Font working files. You agree not to alter the copyright notices as contained in the Font software code. Any manipulation, violation of use, or Font pirating activity may result in legal action and prosecution. You agree to not recreate or base your own Font on Ten Dollar Fonts Font software character designs.

Grant of License, Installation and Number of Users

By purchasing a Personal / Nonprofit License You are granted permission to use the supplied Font software according to the terms and conditions of this EULA. Upon adding Fonts to your cart and completing the checkout process, Ten Dollar Fonts supplies You a non-exclusive and non-transferable license to use the Font software on the number of workstations as determined by the number of Licenses You have selected at the cart page of the checkout process. One (1) license permits You to install the licensed Font software on one (1) workstation owned by a single person or company/organization at one (1) single geographical location. Font software is not permitted to be shared via any form of network or server. If You require a License for more than one (1) workstation then add the corresponding number of licenses to your cart. Discounts are offered when licensing for 20+ users; please contact us to make arrangements.

Format and Software

Font software is supplied in the following formats: .OTF or .TTF. You are not permitted to convert the format of the Font software or edit the working file of the Software.

Back-up Copies

You may make one copy of the Font software for back-up purposes only. We request that you store this in a secure location on an offline hard drive or disc.

Third Parties/ Service Bureau/Printer Use

You are not permitted to use and/or share a single Personal / Nonprofit License and the Font software between users or third parties. To license for multiple users, adjust the 'Number of users' option on the cart page. Each user must have their own Personal / Nonprofit License purchased. This includes Companies, Organizations or Individuals who manage clients' work, such as (but not limited to) design studios, freelance workers, web hosting providers, online media websites and social networks.

If necessary, with Ten Dollar Fonts' written permission you are permitted to supply Font software to a printer or a service company for printing or manufacturing/printing of physical material. You acknowledge to ensure the Font software is not retained by the third party after your service is complete. If the third party is required to make changes they must purchase their own license to do so. For your own safety we suggest converting all text to outlines before supplying files to third parties.

Ten Dollar Fonts holds no responsibility for the manner in which Customers use Font software licensed from Ten Dollar Fonts. Ten Dollar Fonts does not guarantee that the use of the Font software will be unobstructed, uninterrupted or error-free. Ten Dollar Fonts cannot guarantee that Font software is without construction errors, blemishes, mistakes or any fault of any kind.

In no event can Ten Dollar Fonts or any employee, contractor, owner or Designer be held responsible for construction errors, blemishes, mistakes or any fault of any kind in Font software. In no event can Ten Dollar Fonts or any employee, contractor, owner or Designer be held responsible for personal injury or property damage of any possible nature resulting from the use of Font software or www.tendollarfonts.com.

Ten Dollar Fonts and its owners are not responsible if any Font software or the content of Font software or images on www.tendollarfonts.com break copyright laws. The Designer of the Font (as listed on each Font product page) agrees it is their own original work and they accept total responsibility for their Font software and images. If You believe Font software from www.tendollarfonts.com is breaking copyright laws, contact Ten Dollar Fonts for assistance.

Violation and Termination

Violation of the terms of this EULA will instantly cause your License to be discontinued and legal action may be taken against You in a court of law to cover any damages. In the event of termination, You must delete the Font software and assure no copies of the Font software are in your possession or in use.

Ten Dollar Fonts reserves the right to terminate your License at any time if You violate any of the terms of this EULA.

Venue and Choice of Law

Ten Dollar Fonts office is located in New Zealand and this EULA will be governed and construed exclusively by the Laws of New Zealand. You agree to the exclusive jurisdiction of the New Zealand courts when using this website and any Font software licensed from Ten Dollar Fonts.

Changes to EULA

As Ten Dollar Fonts operates in a changing technological and regulatory environment, Ten Dollar Fonts reserve the right to adjust the EULA at any time. Changes will be effective instantly upon posting of the amended EULA on www.tendollarfonts.com. You are responsible for ensuring You have read the latest EULA. Your use of www.tendollarfonts.com and Font software represents that You agree to the EULA as amended.

No Previous EULA or Other Agreements

This EULA is the complete agreement between You and Ten Dollar Fonts. It overrides any prior EULA and any other communications relating to the subject matter of Agreement and Font licensing. No other versions of this EULA or other agreements stating different terms can be enforceable against Ten Dollar Fonts in the absence of a written amendment and consent from Ten Dollar Fonts, including a written waiver of the affected terms of this Agreement. If any term(s) of this EULA is declared by a court of law to be incorrect or unenforceable, the remaining terms of this EULA will still have full merit. Ten Dollar Fonts will modify the incorrect term(s) to meet the requirements of the law to enable the desired intent of the incorrect term(s).
